Q: SQL Server Indexing for Table with "Function" field I have a table with a field which has a function. For example: SELECT (SCHEMA.TABLE.COL1) as "Field" FROM SCHEMA.TABLE I want to create an index on that field. Is it safe to do so? And will the index be used? I would expect the SQL Server to evaluate the function and then store a value. A: Yes, this should work. The function is run, and the resulting value is assigned to the column. It does not matter whether the column is indexed or not - the database engine will not change how the query is executed or how the value is returned. A: It is safe to create an index on a column that has a function, since the function is evaluated only once per query. Q: Concatenate or join array values in codeigniter In my database I have the following two fields: ID: 1 date: 2016-11-16 I need to display the values in a text box but because I am having a trouble, I thought of putting the values in an array and then pass it in a function and echo the result. The problem is that in database I have dates from last three years, so I want to output the latest 3 values but do not know how to concatenate the last 3 dates, if possible in a separate field. function showdate($getid = "") { if($getid == "") { $where = array(); $where['id'] = '1'; } else { $where = array(); $where['id'] = $getid; } $query = $this->db->get('table'); $query-> 4bc0debe42
